EXAMINATION AND CLOSING EXERCISES.

The Examination commenced on Thursday, the 22nd of June, and continued through the following Friday and Monday. In some classes and in certain branches the written method alone was employed, in others the oral, and in others both methods were combined. The object evidently was to make the student show what progress he justly to the privilege of entering an advanced class. Thus used as a test of scholarship, the examination was no mere form, but a trying ordeal through which those alone could pass who had been attentive and industrious during the session. Greatly then to the credit of the institution was the fact that so large a majority not only came up to the minimum demand made upon them, but went far beyond and in many instances drew very near to absolute perfection. Without particularizing, which, where so many classes are involved would be impossible within the limits of a brief notice, it profit, to the exclusion of others, in no is sufficient to say that the result of the examination was the demonstration of great efficiency on the part of the instructors, and uncommonly successful application on the part of the students.

An Oppressor in Office.

NASHVILLE, July 14, 1871. R. D. Campbell, a colored magistrate, has been convicted by the Criminal Court of been convicted by the Criminal Court of Davidson county as an oppressor in office, and was sentenced to-day to eight months imprisonment. His offense was the issuance of an order for committing a person to jail in advance of any trial, falsely stating in said order that the prisoner had been tried and that there was cause to believe him guilty of assault and battery, and refusing the months of the court of this city, charging her with poisoning the months of the court of this city, charging her with poisoning the months of the court of this city, charging her with poisoning the months of the court of this city, charging her with poisoning the court of the city, charging her with poisoning the court of the city, charging her with poisoning the court of the city, charging her with poisoning the court of the city, charging her with poisoning the court of the city, charging her with poisoning the court of the city, charging her with poisoning the court of the city, charging her with poisoning the court of the city, charging her with poisoning the court of the city, charging her with poisoning the court of the city, charging her with poisoning the city of t guilty of assault and battery, and refusing him bail.

The Secret Service Money----A From the Corinth News.

It is currectly reported that Wissler, the Deputy U. S. Marshal, who last week was arrested in Corinth upon the charge of robbing and afterwards setting on fire his victim, has been for some time a detective of Gov. Alcorn—that he traveled through several counties in this State as a sewing machine agent, etc.

It is also reported that Reed, who came here a few days after Whissler's arrest, and threatened Esquire Dodson with arrest for issuing the warrant against Whissler is the same individual who, in 1865 or 56, was charged with and tried for robbing the Express at or pear Okolona of ten thousand dollers.
